Trial Report

The 2024 Obedience and Rally trials are over and were a great success. I can't thank those who stepped in enough because without the responsibilities they take on, the trial weekend would not run as smoothly. Sue MacPherson's kitchen crew did a great job of keeping everyone fed. Cheryl Hettinger was able to round up a nice selection of vendors. I saw multiple people coming in with shopping bags. The selfie station, created by Candy Ellis, was beautiful and the photos posted of people and dogs enjoying the weekend was so nice to see. The raffle committee raised more money this year than past years with a combination of a basket raffle on Saturday and a 50/50 raffle on Sunday – thank you to everyone who donated baskets, gift cards and gently used items. Loretta Lazzara and Cathy Fleury made sure the rings always had workers available for the judges. The judges were well taken care of by Carolyn Pearson – who I believe might have an intern for next year. I look forward to next year when we'll hopefully have even more new people helping or assisting on committees so that new faces can become active in our yearly trademark event. If anyone would like to step in and learn more about any of the positions, let me know and I'll put you in touch with the appropriate committee head.

Thanks to all who helped, and to all who participated,
Taffy Wille
